Dalton Receives Endorsements from African-American PACs

State Senator Walter Dalton, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, received endorsements from the 8th District Black Leadership Caucus and the Warren County Political Action Committee over the weekend. The 8th District Black Leadership Caucus is comprised of leaders and community activists from across the 8th Congressional District.

"I am honored to have the support of the 8th District Black Leadership Caucus and the Warren County PAC," Dalton said. "Their support, as well as support from African-American leaders and groups from around the state, is based on a lifetime of commitment to issues affecting all North Carolinians. I will work as Lieutenant Governor to improve access to health care, create good jobs for our citizens, and continue to improve our schools so we can help close the achievement gap."

The endorsements come on the heels of other major political endorsements that Senator Dalton has received over the last several weeks. He received the support of the Simkins PAC in Greensboro, as well as over 25 prominent African-American elected officials from across the state, including the entire Senate Black Caucus, former Congresswoman Eva Clayton, and former State Auditor Ralph Campbell.
